Administrative history:

The Toronto Ornithological Club (TOC) was established by Toronto area birders in order to facilitate cooperation and communication concerning ornithological studies within the Toronto area and between Toronto and other ornithological centres. The club maintains records of bird sightings each year in Toronto and adjoining areas. Meetings generally include a short paper on an ornithological topic by one of the members or a guest speaker

The formation of the TOC was first proposed in the fall of 1933 by Jim Baillie, Ott Devitt, Stu Downing, Bill Emery, Hubert Richardson, and R. Art Smith, who met to discuss the purpose of such a club, its proposed constitution, and to draw up a list of possible members. The first meeting was held on January 5, 1934; in addition to the founders, the meeting was attended by Albert Allin, Ed Deacon, John Edmonds, J.H. Fleming, Paul Harrington, Cliff Hope, Bob Lindsay, Thomas McIlwraith, Ross Rutter, Terry Shortt, Lester Snyder, Herb Southam, Murray Speirs, and Stuart Thompson. The charter members immediately voted to make J.H. Fleming an honorary member.

The TOC was managed by an Executive Council, with the secretary-treasurer responsible for collecting membership dues, paying bills, attending to correspondence, reading the roll-call at meetings, and appointing a chairman for each meeting. Women were not permitted as members until 1980, when Phyllis E. Mackay joined the Club. The TOC did not have a president until Hugh Currie's appointment in 1991. It was at this time that Currie rewrote the by-laws creating and defining the post, as well as setting out the roles for the rest of the executive. Currie served until January 2000. He was followed by Marcel Gabhauer (2000-2002), Don Burton (2002-2005), Bob Carswell (2005-September 2007), Margaret Kelch (acting President, 2007-2008), and Kevin Seymour (2008-present)

In 1934, the TOC ran its first 'Fall Field Day', during which the members went birding in different areas of York County. By 1944, the Field Day was being held in the Durham region. The Field Day traditionally ended with a social gathering; from 1944-1979, the 'round-up' was held at Alf Bunker's home in Ajax.

In 1958, the TOC took over the management of the Christmas Bird Count (CBC) from the Brodie Club. The purpose of the CBC was to count as many birds as possible within a 30-mile radius of the Royal Ontario Museum. In 1989, the area was reduced to 7.5 miles, centred on the ROM.

The first Reporting Guidelines were issued by the Bird Records Committee in 1989-1990, establishing the format for sending in monthly bird sightings to the editor of the Newsletter. Early attempts to start a TOC journal had been unsuccessful, but in 1990 the first TOC newsletter was issued, with George Fairfield as editor. It published the monthly bird records as well as other articles.

The first Bird Checklist to be published by the TOC was issued in 1996. In 2000, the checklist and reporting guidelines for bird sightings were updated by Glenn Coady & Roy Smith, and published as the Greater Toronto Area Checklist and Reporting Guidelines.

A short-lived journal, Toronto Birds, was produced by the Bird Records Committee from January 2007-February 2011, and incorporated the 'Greater Toronto Area Bird Report' that had formerly been included in the Newsletter. The journal also included more scientific articles on bird sightings and populations.

The TOC held its 700th meeting in November 2002, and on January 5, 2005, celebrated its 75th anniversary. The TOC Historical Membership List, 1934-2008, compiled by Joan Winearls and Barbara Kalthoff, was issued in electronic form for the anniversary..

Scope and content:

Fonds consists of minute books, administrative records, correspondence, reports, bird sighting records, papers written by members, and T.O.C. publications, as well as photographic materials.

The minute books include some information on the club's early history and their original charter, in addition to entries from each of the meetings. From meeting no. 581 onward, the minutes and many committee reports are incorporated into the TOC Newsletter. Administrative records include past president's files, executive committee records, financial documents, the TOC's archives records, and membership records. TOC correspondence covers the period from 1934-2004. TOC reports include the Records Committee Reports (including the Rarities Committee) and field reports.

The TOC's bird sightings records comprise various types of records dealing with the club member's bird sightings, mostly consisting of members' monthly reports. The Papers series contains the papers that were presented at TOC meetings between 1934 and 1980 along with lists and catalogues of the papers. TOC Publications contains various materials produced by the TOC, including copies of Toronto Birds and the TOC Newsletters. Finally, the graphic materials include several photograph albums and one album of slides, as well as many loose photographs (both colour and black and white prints) and slides from members of the TOC. In addition, there is an art print by John Crosby called Great Auk from 1992.

Immediate source of acquisition:

Records were donated to the ROM by the TOC.

Scope and content:

Series consists of the TOC minute books.

The first volume includes the TOC's constitution with amendments, a list of the club's charter members, and the club's early history. All the minute books contain entries from each of the meetings which record such information as the location of the meeting, the chair, the business discussed during the meeting, and members present at the meeting. In later volumes instead of lists of members who were present, the minutes note roll calls at the beginning of the meeting.

Minute books 1-9 are bound volumes, whereas volumes 10 and 11 are on loose leaf sheets held together in duotangs. Please note that volume 9 is missing. From meeting no. 581 onward, the minutes are incorporated into the TOC Newsletter.

Scope and content:

Series contains the bird sighting records submitted by members, as well as reports created by the TOC about bird observations. The reports records include six volumes of field reports record books, Toronto Region bird reports, G.T.A. rarity reports, and TOC rarities committee reports and documentation.

The bird sighting records consist of various types of records dealing with the club member's bird sightings. The bulk of these records are the bird sightings reports. These are organized by year and include members' reports of their monthly sightings, as well as running monthly tallies of species sighted from 1990 to 2004. In addition to these records, there are two volumes of summaries of the clubs' bird sightings reports from 1943 to 1984, the G.T.A. Raptor Watch reports, Fall Field Day reports and documents, Christmas Count data, Hawk counts, Spring Warbler Surveys with reports and backups, Spring Round-Ups, Summer and Breeding Season Reports, TOC Outings schedules and database records, the original Ontario birds list, the G.T.A. bird checklist and guidelines, various Toronto bird lists, Toronto Birding Hotline records, copies of awards given to members by the American Birding Association for sighting rare birds, and newspaper clippings dealing with bird sightings and copies of Baillie's columns on birdwatching.
